WHAT IS MONEY LAUNDERING

Money laundering involves the placement of illegally obtained money into legitimate financial systems so that monetary proceeds derived from criminal activity are transformed into funds with an apparently legal source.

Money laundering has many destructive consequences both for society as a whole and for those entities involved in money laundering activities. With respect to society as whole, money laundering may provide resources for drug dealers, terrorists and other criminals to operate and expand their criminal activities.

With respect to entities, any involvement, whether it be to instigate, assist, conceal, or ignore the source, nature, location, ownership or control of money laundering activities, can lead to both civil and criminal proceedings against both the individual and the entity involved. Additionally, the adverse effects, including the adverse publicity to the Firm associated with involvement in money laundering events cannot be emphasized enough.

Money laundering transactions may include:

- Advising a potential or existing client on how to structure a transaction to avoid reporting and/or record keeping requirements;
- Engaging in any activity while willfully or recklessly disregarding the source of the funds or the nature of the Clients transaction;
- Engaging in any activity designed to hide the nature, location, source, ownership or control of proceeds of criminal activity;
- Dealing in funds to facilitate criminal activity; or
- Dealing in the proceeds of criminal activity.

Money laundering can involve the proceeds of drug dealings, terrorist activities, arms dealings, mail fraud, bank fraud, wire fraud or securities fraud, among other activities.
